CARE OF CAT'S EARS

OLIVE E. GILBERT.

A CAT'S ears should have constant attention. If on careful examination you do not find the ears perfectly clean, appoint yourself a committee of one to make them so. If you find a deposit of small black particles, either mites or other foreign matter, take a match stick, make a small swab of cotton at end, moisten it in a solution of boracic acid and gently and thoroughly clean the ears, never putting the soiled cotton in the ear a second time. A small pinch of dry boracic acid powder in each ear allays any irritation.

To prepare the solution take a teaspoonful of boracic acid to a cup of boiling water, cool and bottle this, marking bottle, and always keep it on hand,

If the mites have hardened into a mass in the ear, a little sweet oil will loosen them so that they can be removed without causing pain.

It may be necessary to cleanse the ears every day or two for a couple of weeks if this condition is of long standing. If not cured in that time, use a mixture of equal parts of ether and peroxide for cats, dilute one half with water for kittens. After cleaning thoroughly, moisten swab and go gently deep down into the ear, and over the inner surface of the ear once. A little sweet oil or a pinch of boracic acid powder will alleviate any burning sensation.

Once a week is none too often to examine ears and cleanse thoroughly. After they are in a clean, healthy condition, they need only be wiped out with a small piece of linen dipped in the boracic acid solution.

In the case of a running ear applications of dry boracic acid powder on a swab daily for a week or two will give considerable relief, wiping the outer edge where it discharges with the ether and peroxide mixture.

If mother cats are afflicted with unclean ears, no doubt the kittens will have the same trouble, which will mean extra work, so keep the mother cat in the best possible condition.

Owners of studs should also free them of all ear trouble before receiving queens, which should also have their ears thoroughly cleaned before leaving home.

If it is found impossible to clean, and keep clean, the ears of any cat, consult a good veterinarian at once.

EDITORIALS

WHILE conversing with the editor one of the oldest cat fanciers recently stated that the owner of the stud should send in to the paper, and pay for, all the notices of matings with her cat. We immediately put on our "thinking cap" and recalled that in the beginning of our cat fancy interest we had read something like this, but that, as a matter of fact, the owners of the studs did not put in the notices and, as all the advertising we did in those days was in the columns of "Visits and Births" notices, if we wanted any notice in we had to send it ourselves, and so, by degrees we forgot all about how these things ought to be. As far as we can remember, the only notice ever put in the Review for us was one of births—which it was our place to send and pay for. It was many years ago. We had tried again and again, through the patience of the stud's owner, for a successful mating with a stud that, in the light of present knowledge, we believe was being overworked. Finally we were rewarded, but the one kitten was injured and died at birth, so we sent no notice to the paper. When the next Review reached us, we were much surprised to read the full notice of the birth of three kittens to our queen!

Etiquette, when not over done, is a good thing and we should like to see the right way established. We have hunted up what we read so long ago on this matter. It is in Miss Frances Simpson's little book, "Cats and All About Them." "I think I am right in stating that, as regards registering visits and births in cat papers, it is the owner of the stud cat who sends the notice of the visit and the proprietor of the queen that announces the arrival of the family. It is just as well to have some such rule amongst fanciers."

Some of our stud owners would have quite a list to send for publication, but this should not be felt too great a tax in view of the good fees received for each mating.

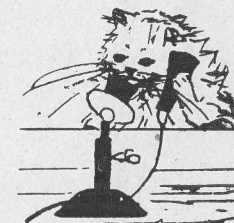

INSURING our cats as in the advertisement in the classified column, may work out beneficially in more ways than one. With a powerful company, such as Lloyds back of us will not those cats that are shipped be better cared for by those who handle their carriers along the route if it is known that they are insured?

As insurance companies often investigate matters we think that porters and expressmen would be more careful not to neglect these charges committed to them.

NEWS

Mrs. A. J. Creighton, of Owen Sound, Ont., has registered her cattery, "Snow-drift."

Mrs. Armbruster and Mrs. De Cottes, of Jacksonville, Fla., were in attendance at the Tampa Cat Show.

Mrs. W. Haywood Parker, of Jacksonville, Fla., spent several days in Tampa, the guest of friends.

Mrs. F. W. Thurstin, of Toledo Cattery, has returned to her home in Toledo, Ohio.

Mrs. G. V. Gable, of Plant City, Fla., entertained at luncheon March 8th. Mrs. A. H. Smith and Mrs. H. A. Hemminger, of Tampa were present and Mrs. Frank W. Thurstin, of Toledo, Ohio, who has been spending the Winter in Tampa.

Miss H. E. Brown has lost her sweet big Queen Prancer, with her pretty tricks and remarkable intelligence. Prancer was not very sick, but Miss Brown was alarmed by the way she laid down, and so sent for the veterinarian. He said that her heart was weak, and left a tonic, which she took nicely on her white of egg twice, but the next morning she was gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Churchill, of Montclair, N. J., have spent three weeks traveling and resting in Florida.

Miss Clarabel Grim's beautiful silver tabby neuter, Hickey Dula, has a new owner, Mrs. A. E. Hale, of Glendale, Cal. Mrs. Hale owns the celebrated Pan-zi-ku-le-i, a tortoise shell from India.

Mrs. Richards, of Summit, N. J., writes: "The Viking comes down sometimes for a saucer of cream when I'm having 5 o'clock tea, and nothing could coax him out of the wicker chair he always sits in. He knows that he must have good manners when visitors want to admire him at tea time."

Miss H. E. Brown has sold her beautiful shaded silver male, last Spring's kitten, Scamp-Per, to Mrs. Claire Renard, of New York City. Mrs. Renard is delighted with him, and he is happy with her, and Mrs. E. T. Rice, also of New York, has bought Miss Amiability, the last Ch. Cranreuch II, and Queen Bess Flag kittens. All of the family are delighted with the little lady and her cute ways.

Silver Echo made his long journey safely, with a few days' stop over in Chicago. Mrs. Eckert, of Oakland, Cal., writes to Miss Carroll Macy: "He instantly made friends with me, and is delighted when I come to him and take him on my lap and love him. You would think he had been here all his life. . . . I walk up and down with him on my shoulder, talk and sing to him, and he instantly responds by purring loudly, kneading into my back with his big, fat paws and rubbing his head on my neck and face."

BRITISH COLUMBIA CAT CLUB SHOW NOTES.

The Charity Cat Show, held under the auspices of the B. C. Cat Club, proved successful, and a large sum of money was raised. All of the proceeds above actual expenses were equally divided between the Alexandrian Orphanage and the Children's Home.

There were very handsome cats on exhibition. One of the "Bests" was a blue tortoiseshell male, Torchlight, owned by Mrs. McKeen.

The success of the show was largely due to the efforts of the president, Mrs. E. S. Chambers, who acted as show manager, and also to Miss Grimm, Mrs. F. Archer, and one or two others.

George A. Perkins,
Cor. Sec. and Treas.

WASHINGTON CAT CLUB.

A special meeting of the club has been called to consider the possibilities of having a show next winter, just before Christmas, if it can be arranged. The Ways and Means Committee will find itself put to very active work in order to carry out the present plans. One feature will be to pay prize money, instead of a lot of specials, which, we are quite sure, will prove more satisfactory all around.

There is always difficulty in finding a suitable place in Washington, but we hope to succeed this time. Special committees will be appointed to report progress at the April meeting, in order that we may get to work early.

Ada Rhodes, Secretary.

BOSTON CAT CLUB SHOW NOTES.

Our annual show was held in Horticultural Hall, January 25th and 26th. The sunlight streamed in through the long windows, giving added pleasure to all that were in the well-ventilated spacious place. It was cheerfulness personified. Everything seemed to dove-tail, and harmony reigned supreme. Mrs. Geo. Brayton, our show manager, claims that we have had the BEST SHOW YET! It surely entailed the most arduous work of any and it stands as our biggest success financially. Door receipts were over $1,000, raffle kitten, $320; catalog, ads., $250. This will give you all a general idea of just how much real hustling was done. We had enough silver entries for a silver specialty show. The next largest entry was that of the brown tabbies.

It was a satisfaction to find at closing time that success was ours, and that we had come through with the BEST SHOW YET, financially and otherwise.

Blanche B. Parker,
Adv. Chairman.

After the main part of the "Review" had gone to press we received word that The Viking, whose picture is our frontispiece this month, had died suddenly. We greatly regret the death of this grand old silver and it will be a decided loss to the fancy. He was the last living son of Ch. King Winter and Ch. Mlle. Génée. Fortunately he leaves noted progeny and several Spring matings will pass on to the fancy a younger generation of this Winter strain of which we are so justly proud.

Paralysis due to a kidney condition was the cause of his death.

Mrs. Richards, to whom Miss Macy had entrusted his care, is greatly saddened by his loss, but is glad that she had him even for so short a time. His Winter with her was filled with companionship, comfort and tender care. She wants those who have Spring kittens of his to know that she is in the market for a promising son to replace him in her cattery and in her affections, if possible.
